

Teaching Statistics Online: Synchronous, Asynchronous, and Hybrid Modes

Arkady Shemyakin

University of St. Thomas; American Siberian Education Foundation

New times bring in their unique challenges. Out of the blue, a lot of college courses in Spring 2020 had to shift into an online mode. It caught both students and instructors as a surprise. In this presentation, author would like to share some ideas and experiences. It is interesting to discuss some aspects of moving curriculum online, which could be both discipline and environment specific.